Rifaat Masri

Rifaat began his international business career in Bahrain, where he spent 25 years building a contracting and trading business from ground level into a top-tier company, sourcing products from around the world for projects across the region. Rifaat later immigrated to the USA and established Teknitrade Ltd. to export US products back to the Arabian Peninsula. His experience and business fluency is in working with people globally, particularly between the USA and the Arab World.

Wael Masri

Over the past 20 years, Wael has utilized his management and technical background to create strategic and cost-effective solutions for clients worldwide. Intimately familiar with the culture and business language of the Arabian Peninsula, Wael regularly travels there to support and nurture new and long-term business partnerships. Wael has Master's degrees in Industrial Engineering and International Business Studies from top ranked programs in the United States.

How We Help You

You benefit from our experience exporting top-tier products from North America to contractors and resellers across the Middle East and around the globe.

- > We speak the language and bridge cultural differences to expedite the process
- > Technical and import/export expertise to better serve you
- > Premium and trusted brand name products across various industries
- > Small-sized orders up to multi-million-dollar purchase agreements
- > Supply products that meet the high-end product standards at Saudi Aramco and large institutions
- > Network of stocking warehouses and freight forwarders to accelerate your orders

Concierge Level Service

You deserve the best products delivered with a minimum of trouble.

Teknitrade has the readiness and flexibility to cater orders to your needs.

“ An intricate understanding of our clients’ needs is the result of close relationships – many going back decades. This knowledge allows us to provide the best products while successfully navigating the complex process of exporting. ”
